

Troika Foods

Troika Foods started out in Edmonton, Alberta over 20 years ago, making handmade cabbage rolls using a traditional Ukrainian recipe. Their company, people, and products have evolved since then, but they continue to use traditional recipes, handmade techniques, and create delicious products without any preservatives or additives.

Six years ago, Alaudin Kanji and his wife Tazlin, purchased Troika Foods and have dedicated their passion to the business, growing it by over 100%. In July 2010, Troika Foods purchased Pasta Time, another Alberta-based business specializing in filled frozen pasta, fresh cut pasta, and assorted sauces. The two businesses were consolidated and recently moved to a newly renovated 11,400 sq. ft. federally inspected plant in Sherwood Park, Alberta.

With a new brand and logo, all under the Troika Foods name, this Alberta gem offers a wide array of products. They continue to make cabbage rolls in small batches, rolling each one by hand, and are currently the largest producer of handmade cabbage rolls in Alberta*. Their line of filled pasta offers customers a variety of shapes and fillings to choose from, made with the freshest ingredients.

Wherever possible, they buy local Alberta products and support local businesses including: Alberta farm fresh eggs; they use over 1000 lbs. of cabbage a day from a local farm in Edmonton; and the wheat flour and semolina for their pasta comes from Southern Alberta, considered one of the best wheat sources in North America.
